Conclusions:

It is clear from ba'aga's archive (the fattener kurušda) whose published texts are about (196) texts, may be he is responsible for an organization, bureau or pen in Iri-sağrig because of his several dealings with many individuals such as shepherds, grooms, observers and stewards as well as assisting his sons Urnigar (the scribe) and Šuškinu (the scribe). Ba'aga (the fattener) appeared from 7AS to 3IS. He associated with other professions in addition to his main profession including the observer (ugula) and the conveyer (ğiri₃).
